

AGILE

LECTURE 03

LEARNING OBJECTIVES

- Identifying types of work
 - I can describe incremental work with examples.
 - I can describe iterative work with examples.
 - I recognize that work that is both incremental and iterative is an appropriate candidate for agile management methodologies.
 - I can cluster generalized descriptions of work into one of four quadrants on incremental and iterative axes.
- Understanding the tenets of the agile manifesto
 - I can recall the 4 guiding principles, or given a keyword reconstruct them.
 - I can recognize descriptors and guiding philosophies for agile-appropriate work, and I can recommend activities and practices that align with those principles.
 - I can recognize activities that are and aren't aligned with Agile management principles.
